ACUMEN

wishes you a sustainable & inclusive new year

2022

There are opportunities even in the most difficult moments.”
— Wangari Maathai

This edition of Acumen Transit's yearly calendar is designed as an essential tool to catalyze and support learning about diverse cultures around the world. The extreme health and environmental challenges we all have endured this past year only serve to reaffirm how connected we are on this earth. Our ability to thrive hinges on our shared interests rather than the differences, divisions and insecurities that pull us apart. Each month's featured artwork, provided by Brandywine Workshop and Archives, presents a narrative of spiritual, social, and economic influences that are personal to the artist yet also address the universal realities of the human struggle in all its resilience and triumph.

About the Art of Brandywine Workshop and Archives

A Philadelphia-based, diversity-driven cultural organization, Brandywine Workshop and Archives has shared images from its permanent collection — together with artworks from the personal collection of Acumen CEO Walter E. Allen — to provide a gallery by artists from the African Diaspora (i.e. Africa, the Caribbean and the United States). This dynamic calendar also celebrates Brandywine's 50th anniversary and awards gala slated for the fall of 2022 as well as its ongoing mission to support high achievers in studio art, art history-curation, and art education. For more information go to Brandywineworkshopandarchives.org or visit its free online database of diverse contemporary art at Artura.org.
